MATERNITY—A popular treatise for young wives and mothers, by T. S. Verdi, A. M., M. D. The author of this popular work is a well known physician of the Homeopathic school, in Washington, where he has practiced many years with marvelous success, thus entitling him to a fair hearing, at least upon the delicate but important subject with which he deals. Plain and intelligible, yet with nothing in it to offend the most fastidious, the style of this book must recommend it to the attention of every thoughtful, intelligent woman, who, in taking upon herself the cares and duties of maternity, finds how much she has to learn of the physical nature of her child before she can be fitted to act the tender part of nurse and guardian for which Nature designed her.

Judge Gray, of the Supreme Court, yesterday appointed the following gentlemen receivers in the matter of the Boston, Hartford & Erie R. R., requiring bonds from each of $50,000: James W. Converse, Otis Norcross, Thomas W. Pierce of Boston, George Oliphant of New York, and George M. Bartholomew of Hartford.

Balzac never got tired of calling all mere monsters. One day he was "dining with Geo. Sand and said to her: It is a great mistake on your part, due to your imagination, alone, to represent so many characters in your novels as virtuous, self-sacrificing and amiable beings. But it is a serious offense against life and reality. Your Valentine never lived. Tom Jaques is an impossibility. Just look at humanity as it is—a mass of ugly, sensual, gross and egotistical creatures!"

George Sand bent toward him and whispered in his ear, "Comte, now, mind, that if it is said, his pay would have been increased by $20,000, the amount which, according to rumor, Mr Bennett promised him in case he brought the Dauntless in ahead.

"It is understood that a banquet will be given in honor of Mr. Ashbury, the winner of the late race, by the New York Yacht Club, but that it will not take place until some time next week. The same gentleman will also be invited to a private dinner at Delmonico's, by Mr. Bennett. Measures will be taken for the relief of the families of the two sailors who were washed overboard from the Dauntless. Mr. Ashbury has signified his intention of giving them each a purse. Numerous visitors have gone on board of the two yachts since their arrival yesterday. They were found to compare favorably with each other in regard to their appearance below decks. The handsomely and richly-furnished state rooms of the Dauntless were examined with much admiration, as were also those of the Cambria. The apartment on the former vessel known as the "Silver-room," in which were contained the various pieces of valuable plate presented to the owner by yachtmen and others, was also inspected with considerable interest.

"The exact difference of time between the yachts in passing the lightship, outside Sandy Hook, was one hour and forty minutes. The officers of the Cambria did not take the time until they came opposite Sandy Hook (which they presumed to be the objective point of the race), by means of which they led many people to suppose that they had only beaten the Dauntless by one hour and thirty minutes. The Cambria, however, glided by the starboard side of the lightship at precisely 3 07, according to the time of Captain Cosgrove her keeper, the Dauntless following in her wake at 4.47 o'clock.

THE ASSASSINATION OF COLONEL BUEL.—A letter from Fort Leavenworth Ks. July 29th gives the following particulars of the assassination of Colonel D. H. Buel a grandson of the late Judge Buel of Troy N. Y.:

Colonel D. H. Buel, who was assassinated here last night, was a young man of about thirty years of age, and was held in high esteem by his superiors, as is seen by an officer so young being placed in charge of one of the most important military arsenals in the country. He came here last November from the Kennebec, Maine, arsenal, and took charge, relieving Colonel J. McNair, who was going to Detroit. He leaves a wife who has been an invalid for a long time, and two children. Last evening there was a fair party given at General Sturgis' house; Colonel Buel, wife and child being present. The arsenal which is a separate department and south of the main garrison, is about ten minutes walk from General Sturgis' house.

About half-past ten Colonel Buel's carriage called for him, and he was immediately driven to his house, and when about five yards inside the gate a musket shot was fired from among the shrubbery. The ball struck him in the back, shattering the spine, and came out through his right breast. He threw his arms about his wife's neck, sank to the earth and expired in a few minutes. Colonel Buel was universally liked, and the same time was a strict disciplinarian. This morning the house of Representatives of the Government of Massachusetts, which somewhat resemble those of New York pilot boats. The latter are unsurpassed among schooners for speed and strength. It was reported, yesterday, that the real cause of the ill-luck of the Dauntless was probably the large number of officers that she carried, and that she stood more chance of being victorious, with only one navigator and one sailing master, instead of several. Captain Samuels, the veteran navigator, was in chief command, but there were four other officers on board holding positions nearly equal to the one which he filled. Had he been successful, it is said, his pay would have been increased by $20,000, the amount which, according to rumor, Mr Bennett promised him in case he brought the Dauntless in ahead.

"It is understood that a banquet will be given in honor of Mr. Ashbury, the winner of the late race, by the New York Yacht Club, but that it will not take place until some time next week. AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.

No. 78 State Street, opposite Kilby Street Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years continues to secure patents in the United States, Great Britain, France and other foreign countries, on Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers and drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with despatch. Research made into American and foreign patents, to determine the validity and propriety of claims of inventors, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Models or specimens of inventions forwarded, by requiring one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

Reference is to the United States assistant examiner of patents, for obtaining patents or assessing the patentability of inventions.

During about twelve years the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made no twice rejected application, and not one patent issued by him has been adjudged invalid by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"In regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most skillful and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring strangers that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them the broadest and most valuable protection at the Patent Office. ED. HUNDLEY.

Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me TWENTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such uniformity is proof of great talent and ability of his part, leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention allowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

ENGLISH NEUTRALITY.

The banquet of the Lord Mayor, in London, on Saturday night, gave the English Ministry a chance to talk unofficially about the war, and Mr. Gladstone improved the occasion to say that he was very much shocked that France and Prussia should go to fighting, and that England's first idea was neutrality.

There is truth in the latter declaration at least, and, indeed, so far as Mr. Gladstone personally is concerned, it is also true, doubtless, that he is amazed at the bloodthirstiness of the two belligerents. But we incline to think that England will not be so "shocked" as to forget to reap whatever advantage may be derived from her "neutrality." We were told for example, the other day by a London dispatch, "England would extend to Prussia the same neutrality she gave to the United States." The announcement was ominous; and, sure enough, in a few hours a Berlin telegram complained that England was selling coal and arms to French ships of war. The North German Gazette is very severe on "English neutrality," saying that it means "supplying France with cartridges, with which to slaughter Germans." France is equally Angry, however, we believe, with this same neutrality.

It is our turn to laugh now. While our war went on, we were very angry at this same sort of "English fair play," which helped forward both combatants, and made money out of both. Europeans were then rather merry over our wrath, and seemed to think that the English people had played us a pretty sharp trick. Now they have a chance to enjoy in their own experience the pleasures of British neutrality.

THE QUEEN'S CUP, to be sailed for the 6th of August, is not properly a cup, being simply a large antique ewer, with Arabesque ornamentation. It weighs 153 ounces. It is 28 inches high. The pedestal has a diameter of about 8 inches. Above that, for three inches, the diameter is but an inch and a half. It then spreads into a hub of six inches in diameter. A couple of inches above this is the main reservoir of the vessel, which spreads to a diameter of 9 inches, and would hold at least a gallon if there were any bottom to the ewer. Unfortunately for its possible and future thirsty owners, this important part has been left out, whether intentionally or not does not appear. Above the main bulb is a neck of about a foot, topped, to use a homely comparison, with a spout like that of a milk-pitcher. A large handle like that on some teapots, which if stretched out straight would be two feet long, completes the ewer. The only ornaments on the vessel that are at all symbolical or illustrative of ideas, are the six female heads at the points of contact of the six burnished "shields" (for inscriptions) on the main bulb. Around the ewer, above the main bulb, is a circle of Arabesque studs. Three of those shields already contain inscriptions.

The course will be the same as that usually run in regattas of the New York Yacht Club—from Owl's Head to the light ship off Sandy Hook and return. As has been previously stated, the yacht America, which originally won the cup, and which is now owned by the United States Government, will again run for the prize, and for that purpose she has been rigged out by the Navy Department precisely the same style—masts, sails, and everything—as when she won this cup nineteen years ago.

Dixon telegraphs from Washington to the Boston Advertiser as follows:

South Carolina letters received here give some information as to political prospects in that State. The so-called citizens' movement does not much strength outside the regular Democratic lines, and Governor Scott will be re-elected by a large majority. The notorious Whittemore will run again in the first Congressional District either as the regular or as an independent candidate. His following is such among the negroes that he seems likely to present himself once more for admission. In the second district there is a Republican split; one wing has renominated Bowen and the other wing has selected Delarge, a colored man and present land commissioner of the State. The Conservatives are doing what they can to widen the Republican breach in the hope of electing their nominee. In the third district, Hoge, the present incumbent, has been thrown overboard, and Elliott, a prominent colored man and an excellent speaker, gets the nomination, while some of Hoge's friends talk of bolting. In the fourth district the convention did not nominate on the first day of its session. Wallace, a member of the present House, got ten votes and nineteen were divided between three other candidates. One white man, Epping, and a colored man, Wimbush, have been nominated as representatives at large, on the theory that the State will be entitled to six members in the next House. The Conservatives have not yet made any of their nominations. The colored Republicans are putting Cardozo, the present Secretary of State and a colored man, forward as candidate to succeed Robinson in the national Senate.

INTERFERING TO DISCHARGED SOLDIERS. The Second Auditor has issued a circular calling the attention of soldiers and others to the following facts and to correct certain misapprehensions in regard to the action of the last Congress: Soldiers who enlisted under the act of July 4, 1864, are not entitled to the unpaid instalment of bounty under section 2 act of March 30, 1869, and the decision of the Attorney General of January 19, 1870, unless their discharge certificates declare them to be discharged by reason of "expiration of term of service."

The bill which passed the House of Representatives, giving eight and one-third dollars per month to each soldier, during his actual service, not having passed the Senate, is not a law. No law granting bounty was enacted by the Forty-first Congress, nor has any such law been enacted since the act of March 3, 1869.

Referring to the recent troubles in North Carolina, the New York Herald says: Several of the prisoners from Alamance County captured by Governor Holden, of North Carolina, have confessed to belonging to the Ku Klux Klan, and, being convinced of the infamy and villainy of that organization, have expressed their determination to withdraw from it. One of them, James Boyd, who was a democratic candidate for Congress in Alamance county, delivers a long address to the people of North Carolina, in which he severs all Ku Klux ties for himself, and claims that Andrew Johnson, while President of the United States, was the head centre of the organization. He charges several whippings and outrages upon the Klan and two murders. If the charges set forth by these two men are true, Gov. Holden is right in the course he has been pursuing. When it comes to a war between the constitutional powers and an anarchical and bloody-minded mob, as this Ku Klux Klan has all along shown itself to be, there can be no question as to which is in the right.

THE NATHAN MURDER. It has been ascertained that the murderers of Mr. Nathan obtained $60,000 from the safe, which Mr. N. had placed there the night before. Three wealthy Israelites of New York have offered $100,000 if necessary to bring the murderers to punishment. Notwithstanding the indignation expressed by the papers and Jews, a Sunday paper for charging Washington Nathan with murdering his father, the Herald of Tuesday morning published nearly two columns severely hurting the same fact, and saying that every Detective believes that a member or employe of the family committed the murder. They found their suspicions on the facts—first, that he was the last person to see Mr. Nathan alive, and the first to discover his murder; second, that he had blood on his clothing, and that there is no evidence about the premises that the murderer, whose feet must have been dyed in blood, left the house; third, that in his testimony before the Coroner's Jury he carefully refrained from stating where he passed the time between his departure from his uncle's at 10th St. and his arrival at his father's house; fourth, that with the aid of Mr. Nathan's memorandum of the combination lock, his son was able to open the safe on Broad St. and secure the will of his father. A workman at the house says he has seen the iron dog in Mr. Nathan's stable for the last eighteen months.

The Auburn (N.Y.) News thinks that the best evidence of the increasing prosperity of the South, and its rapid recovery from the direful effects of the late war, is to be found, perhaps, in the increased returns made to the Government from the collections of internal revenue from that section. Take the State of Virginia, for instance, and its great tobacco interest. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1870, the amount of internal revenue collected from this industry in this one State amounted to $4,440,077 65, an excess of $2,043,897 52 over last year, and a total of $5,114,621 78 during the sixteen months of Gen. Grant's administration. During the whole of Mr. Johnson's administration the entire amount collected from this source in the State was $1,240,120 51, being $3,874,401 27 less than during the brief period of General Grant's administration. While this result is attributable in part to increased efficiency on the collection of internal revenue, it cannot be doubted that much more is owing to the fact that the South is again rapidly building up its waste places, and that a new impetus is being given to all industrial enterprises.

Acting Secretary of the Treasury Richardson decides that the United States Customs officers and not the City Health officials properly and legally have charge of the lightcrage of merchandise and discharge of vessels arriving at New York, thus sustaining the position previously taken by Collector Grinnell and the merchants in opposition to Dr. Cochrane and the Health Commissioners.—Secretary Boutwell agrees in this opinion which will virtually remove the business of lightcrage from the Health officers and restore it to the merchants.

Havana correspondence gives the details of more executions, skirmishes and confiscations. Fighting still goes on in the mountains, but the yellow fever and cholera are doing the Spanish army more harm than the Cubans. Spanish gunboats are closely watching the coast for the steamer Salvador, which has reported recently left New York with arms, ammunition and men.

At the Democratic Congressional Convention for the First District which met at Saco yesterday, Hon. W. P. Haines (of Biddeford) was unanimously nominated as a candidate for Representative.

The returns of the census office, so far indicate that by the 15th of August about one half the country will be enumerated, and it is thought the first of September will witness a substantial completion.

The New York papers of Tuesday give a fearful record of murders, homicides and deadly assaults, with bullet, knife, bayonet and axe. While the police are searching for Nathan's murderer, many other murders nearly as revolting have been committed.

WAR NOTES.

The principal Prussian forces are said to be concentrating in the triangular section formed by the rivers Rhine, Moselle and Saar, the left resting on the Rhine, near Landau and thence stretching to the Moselle near Treves.—A reward of 500 thalers has been offered for the capture of a French Mitrailleuse.—It is rumored that Prussia will increase her army to a million and a quarter of soldiers and advance on France.—Gen. Von Moltke said that if Napoleon did not reach the Rhine by the 21st, he would never cross above Mayence.—Saarlouis has been heavily fortified and the Prussians, if pressed, can fall back on Mayence and Coblentz, behind which they have large corps of reserves.—The Austrian envoy at Paris is very cordial, but adheres to the position of neutrality assumed.—The Arch-Bishop of Paris has requested the prayers of the clergy for the success of France.—Cardinal Bonaparte leaves Rome to act as chaplain to the Prince Imperial.—Napoleon is said to have written the Pope prior to departing for the front, explaining the evacuation of Rome.—A fierce attack by the French near Saarbruck was vigorously repulsed on Monday.—Austria and Italy have agreed on a treaty ensuring their neutrality.—The Spanish Council have decided not to assemble the Cortes.—Napoleon is criticised for not pushing promptly into Bavaria, thus neutralizing the action of South Germany. Such a movement is now thought impossible as it would expose Paris.—Skirmishing was reported near Saarbruck on Thursday, the French having artillery posted on the hills, and annoying the outposts with shots at long range.—The Prussians it is said do not attempt long range shooting, but at a range of 500 yards or less are very steady and sure.—French soldiers make frequent incursions upon the enemy's ground along the frontier, to dig potatoes.—It is thought the three Prussian armies will advance from Saarbrucken and points southward, the southern one to move on Strasbourg, the [illegible] to move on Nancy, and the [illegible] to co-operating with the second.—The Tribune's correspondent writes that the French are not proficient at sharpshooting. Napoleon and the Prince Imperial on the Field.

THE PALL MALL GAZETTE ESTIMATES that the Prussian army on the frontiers is more than half a million of men.

Extensive activity is noticed in the English ports and dockyards and extensive preparations are being made to put the coast defences in condition to resist an attack.

THE FRENCH CROSS THE FRONTIER.

PRUSSIANS DRIVEN FROM SAARBRUCK.

Paris, Aug. 2.—An official dispatch from Metz announces that to-day at 11 o'clock a. m. the French had a serious engagement with the Prussians. Our army took the offensive, crossed the frontier and pressed the territory of Prussia. In spite of the numbers and position of the enemy a few of our batteries were sufficient to carry the heights which command Saarbruck, and our artillery soon drove the enemy out of the town. The superiority of our troops was so great that our losses are slight. The engagement commenced at 11 o'clock and ended at one.

The Emperor assisted at the operations and the Prince Imperial who accompanied him and on the first field of battle received his baptism, for his presence of mind and sang-froid in danger, was worthy of the name.

Mayence, Aug. 2—10 a. m. King William arrived here this morning with several members of his staff. His Majesty received highly satisfactory reports from the army corps on the French border.

Paris, Aug. 2.—Though the religious element places little or no part in the present war the sentiment of the Catholic population in neutral countries is adverse to Prussia naturally some fervid Catholics the advance of the French army is regarded in the light of a crusade.

London, Aug. 2. Russia indignantly denies the design with which she has been charged, of taking advantage of the war in Europe to invade the Danubian Principalities.

Florence, Aug. 2.—The N. Y. Herald's special says: In conformity with the decision of the council of generals held on the 23d ult., the effective force of the Italian army is being rapidly raised to 120,000 men.

A corps of 20,000 men is established between Mantua and Verona, and two corps of observation are forming on the Pontifical frontier.

It is the intention of the Italian government to enter Rome as soon as the French army withdraws, on the plea of protection.

London, Aug. 2.—In the Council of Ministers last Saturday, the supplementary appropriation bill was only agreed to after a hard struggle.

It is understood that Earl Granville is in favor of giving distinct notifications to France and Prussia of England's determination to maintain the independence of Belgium and Luxembourg, accompanied by an expression of surprise at the recent developments.

SUSPENSION OF A BROOKLYN BANK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.

The Central Bank of Brooklyn suspended payment to-day, and its Cashier, J. L. Snyder, has been appointed a receiver to examine and settle its affairs. The cause of the disaster is not certainly known, but is generally ascribed to unprofitable real estate and stock speculations of its President, H. L. Pruyn, who is the owner and builder of the Brooklyn Post Office building, the Samuels building and rooms, and an elegant private residence on Bay street. Pruyn also is reported to be the principal owner of the capital stock of the bank. The disappointment of the public half of the disaster was the refusal of the paying teller this morning to cash a check of $200, saying they had no money. The bank is an old institution, organized under a State charter, with at present a nominal capital of $500,000, on which it has for some time paid a semi-annual dividend of five per cent. The loans and deposits for the last quarter were stated at $420,000, and the profits $29,000. The City of Brooklyn is a depositor with the bank to the amount of $100,000, and the U. S. Post Office also has deposits there, for which, however, the Postmaster is personally responsible. It is thought the securities of the bank largely consists of real estate collaterals, in value in the operations of the President. It is hoped that an arrangement may be made which will permit the bank to continue business.

THREE O'CLOCK IN THE MORNING.

BY MRS. PALFREY.

What do the robins whisper about
From their homes in the elms and birches?
Two tried to study the riddle out,
But still in my mind is many a doubt,
In spite of deep researches.

While in the world is silence deep
In the twilight of early morning,
They begin to chirp and twitter and peep
As if they were talking in their sleep,
At three o'clock in the morning.

Perhaps the little ones ask, and complain
That it's time to be up and doing;
And the mother-bird slugs a drowsy strain
To coax them back to their dreams again,
Though distant cocks are crowing.

Or do they tell secrets that should not be
By mortals listening and prying?
Perhaps we might learn some wise word or
The best way to bring up a little bird—
Or the wonderful art of flying.

It may be they speak of the autumn day
When with many a feathered roamer,
Under the clouds so cold and gray,
Over the hills they take their way,
In search of the vanished summer.

It may be they gossip from nest to nest
Hidden and leaf concealed;
For do we not hear it often confessed,
When a long kept secret at last is guessed,
That "a little bird has told it?"

Perhaps—but the question is wrapped in
They give no hint of warning;
Listen, and tell me if you find out,
What do the robins whisper about
At three o'clock in the morning?

THE CHINESE LANGUAGE.—A correspondent of the N. Y. Evening Post gives the following illustration of one of the peculiarities of the Chinese language:

Every word in Chinese has a fixed tone, irrespective of its meaning. Perhaps the most illustration which can be given of this peculiar arrangement is by asking the reader to repeat aloud the following sentences, laying emphasis on the italicized words.

Three men, A, B and C are supposed to be talking. They say:

A—John is a good fellow. Even tone.
B—What? (Sharply.) Rising tone.
C—No! (Painfully surprised.) Falling tone.
A—Yes.- (Nodding his head.) Low tone.

Now, irrespective of sense every word in Mandarin Chinese is pronounced in one of these tones. In Cantonese there are nine modes, or, the above in two octaves, and a third may be formed of the colloquial dialects of either dialect. As an example, yen means tobacco; yen (2) salt; yen (3) white; yen (4) signifies ink, slab. It is scarcely to be wondered at if the English adventures of the seventeenth century declined the enormous labor of studying so unsystematory a mode of speech, not the less than a mistake in the tone completely altered the sense of the word.

A STEAM PLOW.—Gen. Wade Hampton has upon one of his plantations in Mississippi a steam plow, which was manufactured at Leeds, England, and is now in practical operation. It consists of two portable engines which are so made that they run themselves without the aid of a horse power, and so entirely dispense with horses. These engines are placed at opposite sides of a field, and by means of wire cables draw a gang of plows from one side to the other. The plows do the soil much deeper and quicker, and, inside the cost of machinery, at a much less expense than the horse plows. They run on an average about thirty-five acres per day. The engines are also useful in other ways. Only a few days ago one of them came down from the plantation with sixwagons in tow and drew them back loaded with lumber over rough roads that would have required thirty-four horses to do the same work.

Your back weak, your [illegible] k, and have but little appetite, and [illegible] ute this to dyspepsia or liver-complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal diseases, hastily cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering, successful business men are always those whose generative organs are in perfect health? You never hear of such men being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business; they never become discouraged; they are always polite and pleasant in the company of ladies, and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks, or any other meanness about them. I do not mean those who lose the or are indated by running to excess. These will not only ruin their constitutions, but also those they do business with or for.

How many men, from badly cured diseases, from the effects of self-abuse and excesses, have brought that state of weakness in those organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—fits, lunacy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every other form of disease which humanity is heir to; and, the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have doctored for all but the right one.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a diuretic.

HELMBOLD'S

Mild, certain, safe, efficient. It is for the best Cathartic remedy yet discovered, and at once purifies and invigorates all the vital functions, without causing injury to any of them. The most complete success has long attended its use in many localities; and it is now offered to the patronized public with the conviction that it can never fail to accomplish all that is claimed for it. It produces little or no pain; leaves the organs free from irritation, and never forces or excites the nervous system. In all diseases of the skin, blood, stomach, bowels, kidneys,—of children, and in many difficulties peculiar to women, it brings prompt relief and certain cure. The best physicians recommend and prescribe it, and no person who once uses this pill will voluntarily return to the use of any other cathartic.

PROPOSALS WILL BE RECEIVED UNTIL 12 M. OF JULY 15, 1870, FOR THE SAW FILING, THE LONGEVITY OF THE SAW, AND THE CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR OF NAVY DOCKS.

BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR, NAVY DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, D. C., June 14, 1870.

Sealed proposals to furnish and deliver at the Navy Yard, Boston, Mass., on the 15th day of August next, 1871, will be received at this Bureau until 12 o'clock, M. of the 15th of August next, for the following articles, viz:

Blue prints and specifications can be obtained at the Bureau of Construction and Repair, Navy Department, Washington, and at the Navy Yard, Boston, Mass., on and after the 15th of July next, giving the form of proposals and of certificate of guarantors, with principal to be furnished to such as may apply for the same, and will attend to the delivery of the same at the Navy Yard, and those only will be considered in the awarding.

The commandant of each Navy Yard will furnish a copy of the specification, and will furnish a copy of the schedule of the other yards, for examination only, to persons who may apply to him, if he shall judge with that it is desirable to furnish such copy, but not to the exclusion of those who may apply at the Bureau.

The proposals must be for the whole of the work, all applications for information or for the extension of the time, must be made to the Bureau and in the respective yards.

The proposal must be accompanied by a certificate from the Collector of Internal Revenue in the district in which the bidder resides, that he has complied with all the laws relative to Internal Revenue, and, that he is not a defaulter to the Government, and will be required only to report a bond and sureties, or money, or a certificate of deposit, to secure the contract, if awarded to him, and to furnish the guarantors through the district Assessor of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside.

The contract will be awarded to the responsible bidder making the lowest bid, and will give the guarantors required by law, the Navy Department, however, reserves the right to reject the bid of any bidder, if it shall be deemed inexpedient.

Should a bid, the full amount of which cannot be paid by the contractor, be responsible, it will be rejected to the satisfaction of the Navy Department.

As additional security to the Government, there will be withheld from the amount of the bills and the contracts shall have been completed, and eighty per cent of the amount of each bill, approved in the usual manner by the Commandant of the yard, will be paid by the Paymaster of the station designated in the contract within ten days after the same shall have been passed by the Secretary of the Navy.
